TRENDS

Skills for Growth	Broader Talent Pools	Digital & Future Skills
Local employers are increasingly investing in apprenticeships to upskill their teams, improve productivity and build long-term capability. More SMEs are choosing apprenticeships as a strategic way to tackle skills shortages rather than short-term fixes.	It's no longer just an early-careers pathway. More adults, career changers and existing staff are using apprenticeships to retrain, progress and gain qualifications that directly support their roles. This shift is strengthening retention and creating stronger internal talent pipelines.	Across sectors businesses are increasingly looking at digital skills, technology adoption and future-proofing their teams. Levy funding is allowing employers to explore new technologies and build the skills they'll need for future growth.
